

Feature:

1. This product is used with the control software and transmits data through the ETHERNET port
2. Each button can be programmed through the control software to control peripheral devices
3. Supports control of peripheral devices (matrix switchers, cameras, projectors, etc.) through RS232 serial port or network port
3. Based on the support of infrared learning function, each button can be infrared learned through the control software to send infrared codes for infrared control of third-party devices
4. Supports custom button labels
5. Exquisite appearance design: the total length is only 87mm, and the color is optional